Award for Outstanding Achievement in Health and Safety Improvement in NLHSG Member Organisations

Once again, the Group will present an award in recognition of outstanding achievement in Health and Safety Improvement within Group Member organisations.

If you think that your organisation has made a significant improvement to health and safety and would like to apply for this award, please submit details of your achievement with your application:

Supporting information will be expected to include:

- Background information
- How the improvement was implemented
- How employees were involved
- Verification and validation of the improvement
- Information on the effectiveness of the improvement
- Benefit to the organisation and its employees

Only one Award will be made per year to the organisation that the Judges believe has made the most outstanding achievement, the Chairman's decision being final. Only one application per member organisation is permitted.

The winning entry will be publicised on the Group's website and will be reported in the Group News. The Award will be presented at the Annual Dinner on Friday 23rd February 2024.

Annual Safety Award - 2023

To establish whether you qualify for a Safety Award the following procedure should be carried out:

- 1 Identify from the attached Rate Chart your Standard Industrial Classification (SIC). This is determined by your Company's end product and not by the various processes involved. If you are in any serious doubt do not hesitate to contact us.
- 2 Calculate your Injury Rate as follows:
 - a) Establish the number of lost time injuries within your organisation between 1st January 2023 and 31st December 2023 and multiply this figure by 100,000
 - b) Divide the result by your total labour force

$$\frac{\text{Lost Time Injuries} \times 100,000}{\text{Total Labour Force}} = \text{Your A.I.R}$$

If the resulting figure is equal to or lower than the A.I.R. for your particular industry (as shown on the Rate Chart enclosed) then your Organisation is eligible for an award.

These Awards are open to all organisations in North Lincolnshire and members of NLHSG.
